Leap Year Ball.

The members of the Thursday Bridge Club, of Fairmont, have issued invitations to a number of Clarksburg's social set, for a Leap Year rose colored ball they will give on Thursday evening, February 17, at the Fairmont Country Club. It promises to be one of the most brilliant social affairs of this season. Several figures of the cotillion will be danced.

It will be a subscription ball and the proceeds will be given by the club to the Cook hospital.

Surprise Party.

Friends of Curtis Davidson, of the New Fair Grounds Addition, tendered him a delightful surprise party at the home of his parents, Mr. and J. N. Davidson, on the occasion of his seventeenth birthday. Games and music were the diversions of the evening. At a seasonable hour refreshments were served by the hostess.

To Avoid Dandruff.

You do not want a slow treatment when hair is falling and the dandruff germ is killing the hair roots. Delay means no hair. Get, at any drug store, a bottle of Zemo for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size. Use as directed, for it does the work quickly. It kills the dandruff germ, removes the hair roots and immediately sprouts itching scalp. It is sure and safe, is not greasy, is easy to use and will not stain. Soaps and shampoos are harmful, as they contain alkali. The best thing to use is Zemo, for it is pure and also inexpensive.

Meeting Postponed.

The annual congregational meeting of the First Presbyterian church will be held Thursday evening, February 17, in the church, instead of Thursday evening of this week, a postponement having been made necessary.

A Successful Affair.

The "Made in America" supper and social Wednesday evening at the Baptist church was a great success. Over 300 people were served and entertained, first, by having to secure their excursion tickets over the "Sociality" railroad line at a very clever ticket office with Albert Hauric as ticket agent. Mr. Watson then ushered all into a very realistic passenger waiting room, where a clever train announcer, "Jack" Cottrill, called trains over a number of lines, leaving Minneapolis station, passengers eagerly scanning their tickets meanwhile. When the excursion, Division No. 1, which carried 108 persons, was announced, Ray Renshaw and Charles Ruck, as gate keepers, allowed the number to pass the gate, securing their baggage, a plate, and the long trip from the far North to the sunny South, had started. Each station on the route furnished some article of food. The station was a table presided over by two women. Minneapolis furnished rolls; Chicago, baked ham; Boston, Boston baked beans; Pittsburg, relishes; Atlanta, salad.

The conductor, Mr. Boynton, then directed all to stop over at Jacksonville, which was down stairs in the dining room. On arriving there after a perilous trip, they were met by Mr. Lawson, a booster for the Sunshine coffee house in the Jacksonville palm garden, where the train waited fifteen minutes for supper. All were seated at nine attractive tables and were served cake, coffee and tropical fruits by the coffee house girls.

This room was very beautiful with hundreds of flags, many palms and flowers. Delightful music was furnished by Miss Percy with Davis, Burkham and Tyler's handsome electric violoncello during supper.

The train caller then announced that the train would return direct from Jacksonville to Clarksburg, (church auditorium.) Mr. Blaney piloted the passengers over this trip, and all were at home again, and were delightfully entertained here by piano and vocal numbers, violin solos and trio, recitations and quartets.

Immediately Division No. 2 started and the same outline followed. Also third division.

Joe Griffin was a typical newsboy who worked hard selling newspapers, all about the Sociality excursion, "being very clever."

The new society, Willing Workers, under whose direction this supper and social was given, has an enviable record so far. The society is less than three months old, a mere baby yet, and has a membership of thirty-seven active members. Every member but one, who has been two months out of town, contributed to the success of the evening by her presence, by her giving, by working and by unbounded interest and enthusiasm. The society is very grateful to the men who so ably assisted in the success of the evening.

REPORTS INDICATE
SWEEPING VICTORY

For Judge Robinson at the Primary Election and Later in the Fall, Too.

GRAFTON, Feb. 11.—Reports received at the headquarters of Judge Ira E. Robinson, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, not only indicate that Judge Robinson will win the nomination by a large majority but that the general election in November will result in a sweeping victory for the Republicans. Throughout the state the Republicans are laying aside their local and petty differences and are going into the campaign with a determination to elect their state ticket and a Republican legislature, and to send an entire Republican delegation to the Congress of the United States from West Virginia.

That Judge Robinson will have practically the solid support of the Republicans of this section of the state has never been disputed. And letters received at his headquarters daily prove that his strength extends throughout the state. From counties which he has visited come numerous pledges of support and reports showing that he is looked upon as a winner. Letters are also received daily from counties Judge Robinson has not yet visited, showing that the Republicans look with favor upon his candidacy.

Judge Robinson's availability as a candidate and his eminent qualifications to fill the office of governor are recognized in every county, as shown by the reports received. The Republican voters appreciate the fact that he has not been aligned with any factions in the party and has held himself aloof from any of the differences which have served to split and injure the party the last few years.

With Judge Robinson as the nominee for governor the Republican of all factions feel they can give him their undivided support and that his nomination will assure a victory for the Republicans in the November election. He is looked upon as the candidate of the whole Republican party and not as representing any particular person, crowd or faction. He is a candidate upon whom all the Republicans can unite.

From such counties as Marion, where Democrats have secured temporary control, come reports that with Robinson as the candidate for governor and a united party the Republicans will again come into control of what is rightly theirs, while with him leading their state ticket the Republicans of those districts now represented in Congress by Democrats declare they will this year elect Republicans.

Judge Robinson is spending the week in the central and southern sections of the state, where his candidacy is meeting with much success. In Mason and Fayette counties, where he has already spoken this week, he is assured of a strong following. He has heretofore been in several of the southern counties, including Cabell, Logan, Mingo, McDowell, Mercer and Lincoln, in all of which he has proved himself a leader in the race. Wherever he speaks he is greeted with large crowds of Republican voters who want him for their standard-bearer.

As announced by him at the beginning of the race, Judge Robinson is making a clean fight and has nothing but words of praise for any person who might oppose him in the race. His method of campaigning is proving especially popular with the large majority of Republicans, who stand for the country's welfare and the success of their party.

AGED GOLD SEEKER
COMES BACK HOME

Hates to Leave State of Colorado But Expects Never to Go Back There.

Irvin Martin has returned to West Virginia after many years spent in Colorado and he is visiting here. A following interesting sketch appeared recently in the Denver Times concerning Mr. Martin:

"Well, I'm going back home to West Virginia to spend the rest of my days with the folk. Don't expect I'll get over missing Colorado—the mountains do get a feller—but they want me to go back and I can work on the claim any longer, so I guess I better go."

Irvin Martin, thirty-eight years a prospector in Ouray, looked thoughtfully over his gold-rimmed spectacles, set at a convenient angle half way down his nose. He came to Denver a few days ago to get his ticket and make arrangements for the trip to Clarksburg where four brothers and two sisters are waiting for his homecoming. They are the owners of valuable coal lands and oil wells.

"You see, I left home years ago, like many another man, thinking I would get rich out here in the West," the prospector said. "I sort of just dropped out of sight; didn't write back home for eight years, not even to mother. Finally I got sick and a partner asked me about the home folk. He was a good man and talked me into writing."

Cut Out of Will. "Father was ill then—died soon after—and he thought that letter was something they had fixed to make him happy. He died thinking I was dead; cut me out of the will, but I never said a thing about it. As I grew I found I had two brothers living in Montana—didn't know a thing about that."

"Well, mother kept on writing and so did the rest, and I began to think I would like to see them all again. So I went home eight years ago for a visit. I never saw such a change. They told me that this was that one and this was another of the family, but it didn't seem as if it could be true. I stayed quite a while; they wanted me to stay all the time, but I told them I would rather be hung in Colorado than to die a natural death in West Virginia."

"They are pretty well fixed back there—most of them have struck coal or oil since I had been away. My brother has a number of acres of coal land, my youngest sister has five oil-torium by Clarksburg Council No. 872, Knights of Columbus, was enjoyed by more than sixty couples and was one of the most elaborate affairs given by this order in many months. Dancing was started at 9 o'clock and orchestra played its last piece at 12 o'clock all present enjoyed every minute.

The auditorium was artistically decorated with palms, ferns, potted plants and flowers. The orchestra was located on the stage and was surrounded with plants and palms. The entire room was brightly lighted and crowded with the large number of dancers made a pretty picture. At a late hour dainty refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the dance was, J. J. Devine, William Mulhern, F. L. McGraw, M. A. Mannix, John A. Flaherty and John A. Coughlin.

Jellies are Popular. The Wheeling News says the following about Mr. and Mrs. James Jelly, who formerly played here:

"Have you heard the Jellies?" This is the favorite query among Wheeling's movie friends. They refer not to jelly such as a kidlet might like on a good slice of homemade bread, but rather to Mr. and Mrs. "Jim" Jelly, who have been playing the pipe organ and piano at the Virginia theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Jelly play the two instruments at the same time. They are kept busy playing selections requested by the audience. To hear them "Rag the Scale" is worth the price of admission. Just as at Steubenville, where they played in the past, many go to the theater just to hear the Jellies play.

YOUR BRONCHIAL TUBES

When a cold settles in the bronchial tubes, with that weakening, tickling cough, immediate treatment is very important. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present, your head jars with every cough and your chest may ache. This is no time for experimenting or delay—you must get Scott's Emulsion at once to drive out the cold which started the trouble, and it will check the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you have any symptoms of bronchitis, or even a stubborn cold, always remember that Scott's Emulsion has been relieving this trouble for forty years. It is free from alcohol or drugs. Refuse substitutes.
